

Dr Linda Erasmus is a pathologist with formal training in haematology. She completed a diploma in Tropical Medicine and Hygiene and an MSc in Epidemiology and Biostatistics. After several years in routine diagnostic services in haematology and HIV, she transferred to the NICD where she participated in the national roll-out of Xpert MTB/RIF testing to the National Health Laboratories in South Africa. Dr Erasmus worked for many years in GERMS-SA, the surveillance platform for the NICD; working closely with NICD centres on clinic and hospital based surveillance for Tuberculosis, HIV drug resistance and Sexually Transmitted Infections. Dr Erasmus participated in the national COVID-19 response and is currently based at Centre for Enteric Diseases doing enteric disease related surveillance and outbreak response.