

Review Process

All reports must be initially accepted for publication by the Managing Editor, following which they will be sent to a subject expert for critical review. Authors will be invited to address reviewer comments within a stipulated period. Acceptance for publication will be based on reviewer and editorial recommendations following the completion of the review process. Final approval for publication will be obtained from the Editor-in-Chief and the Chief Executive.